

RATIONAL COMBI OVEN TRAINING

First Choice Group Training has built a unique partnership with Rational AG over many years. We are an appointed Service Training and Spares Partner and have been approved as a National Technical Training Centre for service technicians.

Courses include both installation and maintenance of the Rational range of combination ovens and all engineers who attend a course can benefit from continued technical support from the First Choice Group Training team.

Courses are held throughout the year, usually twice a month, but can be specially arranged to suit individual requirements - call us on 01543 460 385 to discuss any special needs.

RATIONAL SCC WE/5 SENSES TRAINING

With this three day in depth course we guarantee the best technical insight into these sophisticated cooking appliances, to suit the individual needs of an engineer. The course covers routine maintenance and fault finding for both gas and electrically heated models. Training and updates for the latest Rational 5 Senses technology is also included.

RATIONAL PROFESSIONAL UPDATE TRAINING

This course is a 1 day training course designed for engineers who have previously attended a full basic training on Rational SCCWE or 5 Senses, and who are wishing to update their technical knowledge and skills on Rational (confirmation of prior training will be required). The course will give a refresher training for diagnostic tools and function test plus an update of recent technical modifications and equipment.

ABOUT FIRST CHOICE GROUP TRAINING
